99% of the amounts are DS1 disputed charges. They are charging me anywhere from $385-$800 per DS1 with the exception of a new one that came in about $290 for no apparent reason). I think we should just get assurance of the credit being applied retroactively. Theoretically after signing off tomorrow everything will be taken care of anyway, wont it?

FYI: My actual response to this is hiring 2 more construction employees and calling in a bunch of JULIE locates and starting my construction in 3 days after the locates are good. I'm sick of these bastards. If its a battle they want then its a battle they will get. GPON will beat shitty copper any day. Perhaps this is what I needed to get me off my lazy butt and truly take over a city vs.. slowly picking away at it.
